Overview
The Lynda app is in the process of changing over to LinkedIn Learning. This quick reference was designed to assist users in navigating the app’s new login screens. Prior to logging in, users will need to download a copy of the Lynda app to their phone or other mobile device. This guide uses the iOS version as examples, but the instructions should apply to the Android version as well. Please note that further changes are likely as LinkedIn continues the rebranding of Lynda.com.

Logging into the Lynda App with a Harvard Account

1. Open the Lynda.com app on your mobile device.

2. Select “Already a member?” LinkedIn Learning access is automatically granted to Harvard accounts with access to Lynda.com.

3. Switch from the “Individual” login tab to the “Organization” login tab.
   Attempting to log on the “Individual” tab with a LinkedIn account or your username and password will not connect you to the accounts available through Harvard’s site license with Lynda.

4. At the bottom of the Organization login screen, enter “Harvard.edu” into the Web Portal field, then click Log in.
5. The app will then open a new browser window with the HarvardKey login screen. Enter your HarvardKey username and password there, then click Login.

Depending on your settings and how long it’s been since you last logged in, HarvardKey may then require you to submit a two-step verification of your login through Duo.

6. After your HarvardKey authentication is complete, the browser will display a messing about redirecting back to Lynda.com. Click Open to be returned to the Lynda app.

7. Once the Lynda app opens again, you should be logged into your Harvard LyndaCampus account and it should remember your login until you actively choose to log out of the app.
